His employers promptly furnished him with a sum of money to defray his expenses until he would be able to work again.

Dischange of an Alleged Burglar.—
George C. Wilson, who was arrested a few days ago upon a charge of feloniously entering the residence of E. A. Thompson, on the corner of Fourth and Broadway, was arraigned before Judge Lowe, yesterday morning, for examination. Mr. T. was satisfied the defendant was not the person who committed the robbers, and he was therecommitted the robbery, and he was there-fore honorably discharged.

A MAN ATTEMPTS TO KILL A WOMAN, AND A MAN ATTEMPTS TO RILLS A WORKS, AND SHOOTS HER HUSSAND.—A man, calling him-self Frank Holmes, was arrested last even-ing on charge of shooting another, named Cox, with intent to kill. It appears that some difficulty occurred at the latter's house, on Mt. Adams, and Holmes, for some reason not stated, attempted to shoot Mrs. Cox, when her hushand interfered, and received the ball of the pistol in his shoulder, making a severe and painful, though not dangerous wound.

FORMATION OF A NEW MUSICAL SOCIETY. A meeting was held last evening in the hall of the Wesleyan Female College, to organize a society for the practice of classical music. Robert Burnett, Esq., was unanimously chosen President; Prolessor Victor Williams was elected Musical Director, and Professor H.J. Smith, Associate Director and Organist. Such an Association has long been felt to be a desideratum in this city, and this movement promises to be successful, as some of our best musical amateurs, as well as pro-fessional musicians, are pledged to its support.

THE RECENT TRAGEDY IN THE FOURTH WARD.—Our readers are already acquainted with the circumstances connected with the shooting of Councilman Glass, which took place last Sunday, and the subsequent at-tempt of the female to destroy herself. She was arraigned before Judge Lowe, yesterday was arraigned before Judge Lowe, yesterday morning, on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, and waiving an examination, was committed to jail, in default of bail in the sum of $750, to await trial before the next term of the Court of Common Pleas. The sympathy of her friends affords, her no consolation, and, like one distract, she weeps and wrings her hands continually, over the unfortunate love that will not break her heart, and can not be conquered.

ANNIVERBABY OF THE AMERICAN REPORM TRACT AND BOOK SOCIETY.—The anniversary of the American Reform Tract and Book Society, was held yesterday afternoon and lest evening, in Dr. Colver's Church on Court-street, between Mound and Cutter. The report of the Board of Directors was read, and shows the assets of the Society to be $11,509 85, besides 340 acres of land, the gift of James Garrison, deceased. The receipts during the year amounted to $7,631 83, and the disbursements to $5,957 18, leaving a balance in the Treasury of $1,674 65.

The report says that the Society has published during the year 14,000 bound volumes, and 108,300 tracts, making 3,006,760 pages; and circulated 13,765 bound volumes, $5,897 tracts, making 2,726,738 pages.

While supplying this amount, the Board has had numerous applications for tracts and books for distribution and for Sabbath-schools, which the limited state of their funds led them to decline granting. The Directors cherish the hope that in the improving financial condition of the country the friends of the Society will soon provide for a more liberal gratuitous distribution.

The total circulation during the last five years, has been 17,594,760 pages, in which are included 88,340 bound volumes.

These self-sustaining colportours are allowed a commission on all sales they make, and in general are quite satisfied with the commission as compensation for their labor. The meeting was addressed by Rev. Having learned from members of the City Council, who claim to speak for four or five of the West-End Wards, that the people in that locality were terribly excited, and de-

Council, who claim to speak for four or five of the West-End Wards, that the people in that locality were terribly excited, and determined to resist, to the utmost, the reduction of railroad fare, preferring to pay four rather than three cents, merely out of regard for the sanctity of contracts, and through patriotic desire to pay a portion of the expenses of the city, we furnished our-relves with a large quantity of paper, two or three pencils, &c., expecting employment for several bours in noting down the patriotic expressions of the speakers; and that we might be the better prepared for dispatch, we wrote, in brackets, in every two or three lines, such words as "cheers," "applause," and "good," to which were frequently prefixed adjectives, like "loud," "tremendous," &c., as the feelings of the sudience were supposed to become wrought up, never doubting that they would be needed. The call, it will be seen, designated haif-past seven o'clock as the hour for commencement; but as it was generally understood that the enthusiasm of the individual who "paid for the advertisement" was so great that he could not remain quiet so long, we mounted the fastest car, and, by seven o'clock, were on the ground—a spot rendered memorable by an assembly to consider the same subject, some time since. no one could be seen on the corner, but in a beer saloon near by we found the man who, on the occasion referred to above, claimed to be the proprietor general, because he had "paid for the advertisement."

He evidently felt that the people, on this occasion, had concluded to respect his claims, and allow him to enjoy alone all the glory of the night. Half-past seven arrived, and still no one came to rob himof his meeting—it was his, and his alone. At this hour, two more knights of the "Faber, No. 2," arrived, and half a dozen people assembled on an opposite corner, and commenced discussing Douglas, Lincoln, Bell, the Frince of Wales, and several other personages, but none of them became sufficiently boisterous to disturb "my meeting."

Eight o'clock passed, and the speakers who were announced did not arrive. Half-past were announced did not arrive. Half-past eight, a little card was slipped into the hands of the proprieter, announcing that one of the speakers would be there at nine, whereupon the reporters, by mutual consent, simultaneously adjourned.

The peformance lacked but two elements of success—it had no organization and nobody was there. Had it not been for these defects, there would without doubt have defects, there would, without doubt, have been a great amount of enthusiasm displayed. As the proceeding was had with a view of denouncing Gen. Whitcomb, that gentleman will no doubt feel constrained, hereafter, to hold the railroads to their contracts.

PROBATE COURT.

A proceeding, in which Dr. Alva Curtis was charged (under the 26th section of the act relating to the settlement of the estates of deceased persons) with adding and abetting Ellen Haymond to conceal or curvey sway the property of J. C. Parshley, a gentleman who died at the infirmary of Dr. C. was disposed of by Judge Hilton.

It was urged by the attorney for the administrator (Mr. King) that he should be held guilty of concealing or conveying away the goods, in consequence of a letter he had written to Kilen Raymond, taken in connection with leatimony previously adduced.

(The letter contained the form of an answer which the writer (Dr. C.) advised Ellen Raymond to make to the Coart in teclining to return any of the property for the benefit of Mrs. Parshley—and the coursel contended that the Doctor thoreby aided and abetted this woman in concealing the assets, and putting them out of the reach of the Court.

He Judge H.) considered it highly improper in Dr. Curtis to have dictated his assets; still, as the order itself could not be legally enforced, no penalty could attach to Dr. Curtis in this matter.

The other evidence in the case did not show Dr. Curtis to be privy to any fraud practiced on the rights of Birs Parshley.

The citation was scordingly dismissed at cost of administrator.

The Late Attempted Sale of a Free Negro in Memphis.

The following article, in regard to an at-tempted sale of a free negro in Memphis, which occurred a short time ago, and was published in this paper, will explain itself: "To the Editors of the Dully Press:

"In your paper, some days ago, you published an extract from the Memphis papers, to the effect that I had been arrested in that city for an attempt to sell a free negro; it, therefore, would be but justice to me to say to those who read your journal, that the charge was entirely untrue. I was traveling with a white man, who had with him a colored low whom I supposed to be he sleet. ored boy, whom I supposed to be his slave. The white man in question was a friend and acquaintance of mine, and in infirm health, and I was in his company simply for the pur-pose of taking care of him, he being almost blind.

"At Memphis, this person undertook to sell the boy, who, it appears, was in fact free. We were all arrested, and though entirely ignorant of the attempted sale, or any of the circumstances connected with it, I was taken to jail and whipped, being beaten till I was senseless, and confined ten days.

After receiving supers from this city, testify-After receiving papers from this city, testifying to my good character, I was taken from jail, and informed that there was no charge against me, and bidden to depart.

"I was seized without any warrant, or legal process whatever, and abused as above stated, merely because I happened to be black.

ARREST OF AN ALLEGED DEALER IN COUNTERFEIT COIN—A Brace of Policemen Beautifully Sold.—A tew days ago, an individual, while strolling through the extreme southern part of Indiana, met a man, who seemed desirous of purchasing a quantity of counterfeit coin, and agreed to furnish him $500 in bogus half-dollars, at the rate of fifty cents on the dollar. The arrangement was perfected, and the Hoosier agreed to call yesterday at the Henrie House, in this city, receive the coin, and pay our hero $250. ceive the coin, and pay our hero $250. The Indianian felt very well satisfied the apposed counterfeiter was trapped, and informing a couple of our police officers of the circumstances, invited them to assist him in the very laudable undertaking of arresting the maker of money. Accord-ingly they kept the appointment at the Henrie House, received a box, which was said to contain the $500 in counterfeit coin and gave in exchange for it a fraudulent Not doubting that their game had been terfeit coin whatever, but was filled with lead and shot to make up the requisite weight. At this stage of the proceeding it may be upposed that they were puzzled. The sup-osed counterfeiter held one ace too many for their purpose, and they knew not what to do with him. They found no spurious to do with him. They found no spurious money on his person, or among his effects, and he had not received money by false pretenses, for they had paid him with a false check. We presume he will appear before Judge Lowe this morning, on a charge of vagrancy, which is an excellent refuge for policemen, and may be made with impunity against any one they choose to suspect of crime.
